2:4 THE 1900 LIST OF THE PIPE MAKERS' SOCIETY

D.B. Gallagher

Scottish pipemakers were paid a piece rate per gross of pipes they produced, which varied according to the complexities of the different moulds in use. These rates were fixed after negotiations between the employers and the Associated Tobacco Pipe Makers' Society of Scotland and Ireland, also known as the Pipe Maker's Society, which represented the interests of the employees. This latter was a Glasgow-based union which had been formed in 1846. In the collection of material formerly belonging to the Edinburgh pipemaker William Christie and now in Huntly House Museum Edinburgh is a small volume entitled Price List as agreed upon between Employers and Employees, the same to come into force from August 20th, 1900 (HH 83/685/80). This was printed for the Pipe Makers' Society by the Labour Literature Society, Glasgow. It must be emphasised that this is not a list of prices paid for by a purchaser, wholesale or retail, but is the piece rate paid to the pipemakers.

The book commences with two letters; these would seem to be presented as models for the drafting of future agreements between employers and employees concerning detailed changes in working practice. There follows a section, on page four giving details of various additional payments known as 'Extras'. This copy has handwritten notes under this entry explaining the various terms. The main section of the book consists of lists of moulds for the five major Glasgow manufacturers and there is an 'Edinburgh Price List' and an 'Aberdeen Price List'. Each page of these lists is divided into four columns, that on the left showing the number of a particular mould. It was common practice for this number to appear on a pipe stem preceding the manufacturer's name; this can be useful in identifying a pipe form when only the stem survives. The second column gives the name of the particular pipe. Popular pipes, such as the Derry, can be represented by more than one mould, but each is carefully numbered. The third column, headed price, gives the amount, in shillings and pence, that a pipemaker was paid for producing a gross of that pipe. This varied from 8d to 9d for most pipes to as much as 1s 9d for the extra skill required to produce pipes such as McDougall's '21 inch Long'. The original book has a fourth, empty, column on the extreme right of the page, presumably so that changes in the 'price' could be entered. This is empty, but on page 48 of the original there are handwritten additions to the list of Christies of Glasgow.

No other copy of this book is known to the writer but a similar list exists in manuscript form in the Peoples Palace Museum, Glasgow (PP 1980.88.1). This differs mainly in that it displays an idiosyncratic approach to spelling; it may be either a copy or an initial draft for the printed list.

We would like to thank City of Edinburgh Museums and Galleries, for permission to reproduce the printed list and Elspeth King, of the Peoples' Palace Museum, Glasgow, for bringing the manuscript copy to our attention.

Form of Agreement BETWEEN THE Associated Tobacco Pipe Makers' Society And their Employers.

October 2nd, 1900.
That the new moulds presently in dispute in M'Dougall's shop—Elephant and Turtle—be paid at 8½d.
per gross making.

That after this date any new pattern going on shall be compared with existing pipes, but should the new pipe tally with any pipe at 8d. per gross, nothing less than
8½d. is to be paid for the new one.

That new carving or alteration in fillet will make no difference in price. All 8d. pipes to remain as at present.

Signed on behalf of Employees--

JAMES BURTON, Secy.
WILLIAM AITKENHEAD,
JAMES MALONEY, Treas.

Signed on behalf of Employers--

D. M'DOUGALL & CO.
W. WHITE & SON.

TO THOMAS DAVIDSON, Garngad Hill.

"DEAR SIR,
Our understanding of the Agreement in force for years regarding changes of moulds, is that when a man has more than one setting within one week he is entitled to a 6d. for said extra setting, and also 6d. for each additional setting he may have to make within said week.

Yours truly,

D. M'DOUGALL & CO.
JOHN WALDIE & CO.
WM. WHITE & SON."
